FEATURES

TAKING APART THE BOMB
64

Disassembling a nuclear weapon is surprisingly easy. The hard part: getting rid of its radioactive innards.

WHY SCIENTISTS ARE THINKING SMALL
71

Devising computers and other machines with components not much bigger than atoms or molecules has become one of the hottest frontiers of scientific research.

SNAGGED!
76

Earthwinds was designed to be the first balloon that would fly around the world. Then disaster struck.

CLEANING UP COAL: THE 21ST CENTURY IMPERATIVE
78

Coal is Earth's most abundant fossil fuel, yet one of the most damaging to the environment. Emerging clean-coal technologies, however, could fashion a well-scrubbed new image for this ancient energy source.

DIGITAL RECORDING ARRIVES
84

This recording and playback test tells you all you need to know about the latest in digital audio—the digital compact cassette and the MiniDisc.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS: QUEST FOR SPEED
88

Go faster than 200 mph, and you get a T-shirt. Go faster than 300 mph, and you get respect.

THE SCIENCE OF ENERGY EFFICIENT HOMES
96

The house is a complicated system—a fact that is changing the face of home-building.
