VOLUME 46, NUMBER 9

Those who can, go. Those who can't, go off. This month we're going to help you avoid the latter predicament with "Secrets of High-Performance Driving." We look at Laguna Seca Raceway through the instructive eyes of IMSA GTS Champion Steve Millen, at the wheel of a Ferrari F355. Two ornery editors lock horns over the merits (and demerits) of pushbutton shifting. And 10 famous drivers tell us about the moment they realized that they "had it."

ROAD TESTS

100 Range Rover 4.0 SE—it's a big crown to fill: A new Range Rover ascends to the throne with more solidity, a refurbished interior and updated looks

106 Five Near-Luxury Sedans—Infiniti's new I30 takes on the 4-door force of the Audi A6, Lexus ES 300, Mazda Millenia S and Oldsmobile Aurora

FIRST DRIVES

56 SMZ—Steve Millen's 365-bhp toast to the 25th anniversary of Nissan's Z-car introduction: a Millen-modified commemorative-edition 300ZX Turbo

61 Acura TL-Series Sedans—Vigor mortis? The TL stands for "Touring Luxury," as Acura's midline sedans go for comfort, competence and conservatism

65 De Tomaso Pantera—the latest Pantera is the last of the breed, but it provides more proof that la dolce vita is still the way of life around Modena

70 Hyundai Accent—What's this? An econo-car from Hyundai that's good enough to make us forget (and forgive) the Excel? Strong praise, indeed

FEATURES

74 The Secrets of High-Performance Driving—if you become one of these three—smoother, quicker, better—you become all three. Here's how

129 Subaru Impreza WRX Sport Wagon—ain't nobody gonna make fun of this purple, rally-ready beast, but they are surely gonna stop and stare

130 Swapping Ends—so why did Ove Hasselberg switch the business end of his Saab 900 from the front to the rear? Because it wasn't there

143 Long-Term Tests: Chevrolet Camaro Z28 Convertible vs. Ford Mustang GT Convertible; Honda Civic del Sol and Mazda Millenia S

166 Long-Term Wrapup: Toyota Supra—nothing like a year's worth of good, clean mischief to keep a staff's spirits up (thank God we still have that 911)

COMPETITION

136 Formula 1 Finances—Rob Walker documents how World Championship racing sponsorship went from free oil in 1950 to $40 million in 1995

146 Saturday Night Specials—with the help of ABC colleague Jack Arute, Sam Posey gets to try his hand at a little bullring racing on a half-mile oval

TECHNICAL

132 You Won't See That Anymore—R&T's catalog of outlawed race technology, and an argument in favor of an absolute "run what you brung" series

COLUMNS

22 Miscellaneous Ramblings—Alfa Romeo completes its unceremonious exit from the U.S. stage next January, but our indignation will remain

32 Side Glances—Question: "Is that why they call a box wrench a 'knuckle-buster'?" Answer: "Wrap it in a towel, and get yourself to a hospital."

42 Ampersand—Porsche poises for a comeback, news about the new MG and next year's Vettes, and, by the way: Who is going to buy all those roadsters?

156 About the Sport—...and as surely as night follows day, the Daytona 500 followed the 24 Hours of Daytona (this year with a big Porsche surprise)
