...to help Berkley make better fishing tackle for you.

They are called the Berkley Outdoor Sports Council, and, as you can see, they represent practically every part of the country. Headed up by Curt Gowdy, famous fishing authority and Berkley's International Field Test Director, this group of top sports writers... each an avid and expert fisherman... meet with Berkley product people to critique every Berkley tackle product. What are the new trends? How can improvements be made? What can Berkley do to bring better products to fishermen everywhere? It's all a part of Berkley's continuing product improvement program... and we are listening to the guys who really know.

We really listen to fishermen
