It is an annual adversariant of the successes and failures of conspiration of the successes and failures of the successes an an annual adventure in which we are joined by more than forty independent independent specialists on six continents, all of whom have had a hand in believe hand in helping to verify and authenticate the 125 pages of notes explaining explaining the scores that appear at the center of this magazine with our full-color. our full-color Scoreboard map. ■ IT was one of those years that would send a man home from the office to take three aspirin and go to bed. Inflation, recession, unemployment, exploding crime, a President and Vice President resigning in disgrace, a lost war in Vietnam, record divorces, record abortions, record Debt, record bankruptcies. Pass the bicarbonate. Pass the Hadacol. Pass the hat.

A RECENT survey conducted by William Watts and Lloyd Free, published as State Of The Nation — 1974, has confirmed that Americans are now "exceedingly pessimistic" about the future of their country. This, the authors noted, is a far cry from a decade ago when most thought that America was headed down the yellow brick road to Emerald City. As U.S. News & World Report puts it, Middle-Class Americans have been convinced that "the Great American Dream isn't fun anymore."

The problem is government — Big Daddy, Big Mommy, and Big Brother. The conspirators running Big Government have combined with (and fostered) big business, big labor, and big education. All around us the world is being collectivized by forces, and for reasons, that Middle Americans do not understand. Such Americans, unaware that they are targets of a conspiracy, wonder why they are subjected to constant controls while criminals are set free to do as they

Much of the burgeoning crime problem is caused by the conspirators behind Big Government. They have used the courts to protect every criminal and subversive force imaginable. The latest figures show that crime jumped seventeen percent last year - the biggest leap in fourteen years - and that it was climbing at a rate of nineteen percent in the last three months of 1974. Between 1960 and 1973, the number of serious crimes reported to the F.B.I. increased 158 percent to a one-year's total of 8.6 million. Murder jumped 116 percent. Forcible rape went up 199 percent. Robbery more than tripled — up 256 percent. Auto theft rose 183 percent. Crimes of violence increased 204 percent.
