50 CRAZY GOOD

The high-strung CARLOS ZAMBRANO has earned his smack-talking, finger-pointing rep. But if the wild man of Wrigley tames his emotions, will his Cy Young-quality stuff mellow too? BY TIM KEOWN

58 JOHN DALY LAYS UP

The drinking man's golfer has built a career on plus-size appetites and huge talent. In his new book, My Life In and Out of the Rough, JOHN DALY faces his demons and the future. Whether that future includes the U.S. Open remains to be seen.

67 2 MUCH IS NOT ENOUGH

Daly's not the only jock living large. The Sports Guy wonders why playing big on the field or on the court often leads professional athletes to a life of excess off of it. BY BILL SIMMONS

74 PERFECT PITCH

From rural fields to the alleys of Rio, no country moves to the rhythm of the world's game quite like Brazil. The Magazine goes on a quest for the soul of futebol Brasileiro. BY JEFF BRADLEY

82 JUST THE SAME NEW BENGALS

Issues? Yeah, they've got issues in Cincy, especially at QB. The good news? Chad Johnson and T.J. Houshmandzadeh refuse to let the Bengals become the Bungles again. BY DAVID FLEMING

86 THE EXPERIENCE: NBA FINALS EDITION

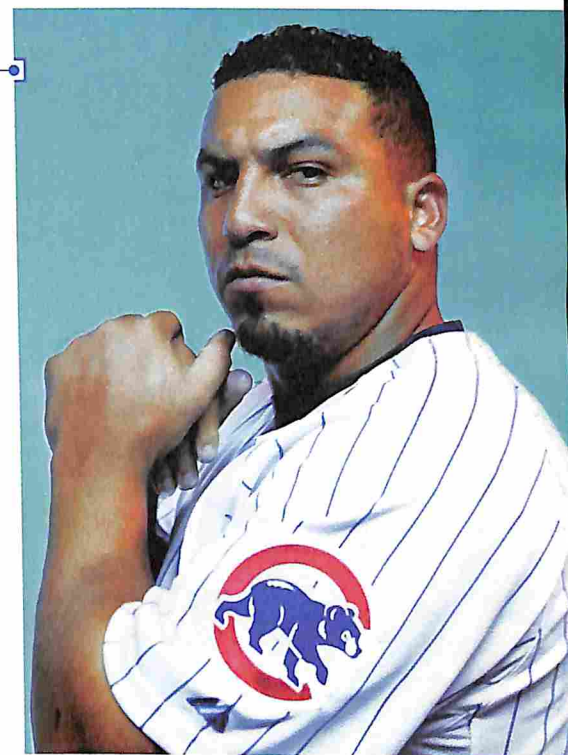

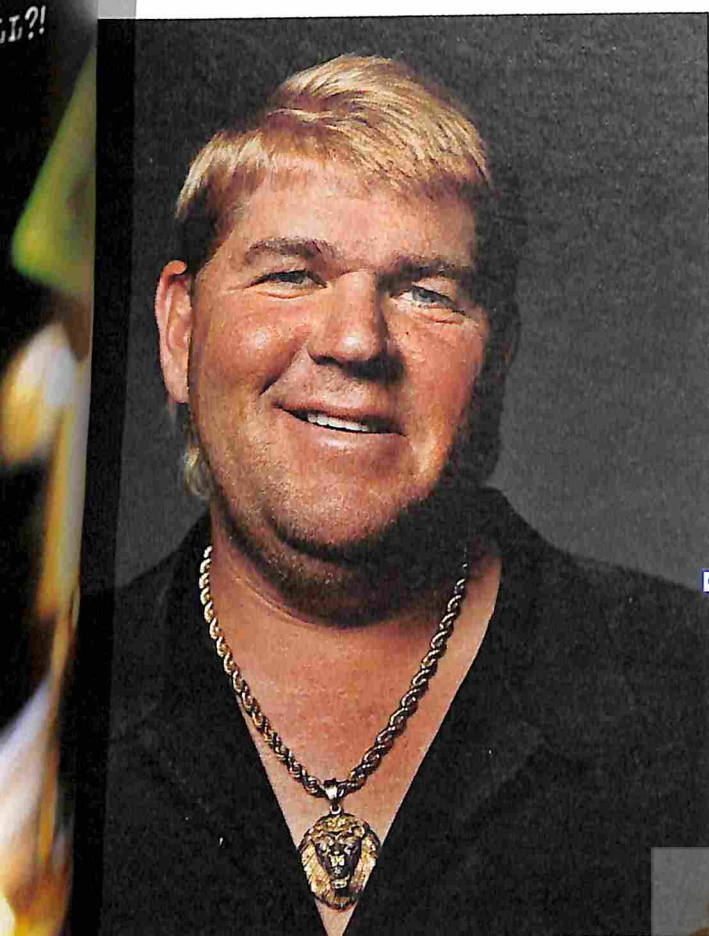

What's it like to sink the game-winning J? How's it feel to be the goat? And that victory parade? From SHAQ to Steve Kerr, some guys who have been there and done that do some sharing.

96 THE OTHER SIDE OF THE FENCE

Two of New Mexico's best high school soccer players had everything it takes to make it at the next level and follow their American dream—everything, that is, except immigration papers. BY JUDD SLIVKA

104 FINALS LESSONS

All of Gary Bettman's dreams are realized in this season's Cup finalists. (Well, except for those pesky TV ratings.) But what can the losers learn from the winners? And who's poised to take those lessons straight to the '07 Finals? Find out here.
