LIFE'S PICTURES

With a nervous eye cocked at the high-voltage electric wires that surrounded him, LIFE Photographer Nat Farbman perched precariously on top of the 40-foot tower shown at left to take pictures of a house being built in only 34 minutes (see pp. 12-14). Hal B. Hayes built the tower especially for LIFE's use, attached a sign to the scaffolding which said, "... only for LIFE magazine." This forestalled other photographers who were near scene from duplicating Farbman's original idea.

The following list, page by page, shows the source from which each picture in this issue was gathered. Where a single page is attributed to several sources, credit is recorded picture by picture (left to right, top to bottom) and line by line (lines separated by dashes) unless otherwise specified.
