Every year, we prepare thousands of people to work for other companies.

Dedication. Dependability. Self-discipline. In a national survey of American businesses, 9 out of 10 employers named these the most desirable qualities in job applicants.

The same employers also named Army alumni more likely to have these qualities over other applicants.

So the next time a young person asks you for career advice, tell them about the management training program that's been endorsed by hundreds of American companies.

Just have them call 1-800-USA-ARMY.
