18 The Good Humor Men of Washington

George Allen gives his Redskins ice cream or whatever their hearts desire. And he gives Larry Brown the ball

22 Blue Blazers in Philadelphia

Some of hockey's newly rich get off to a calamitous start, raising questions as to the fitness of things

24 SOS from a Seaside Slaughter

A truce may be coming in the raging striped-bass battle between surf casters and haul seiners

26 The Qs Have Quite a Few of the As

A San Diego orthodontist who owns pro basketball's newest team is straightening out some misconceptions

36 Journey into a Secret Land

Russia's stud farms are hidden in the Caucasus. Until Whitney Tower's visit, they were well off limits

42 Looking for Unburied Loot

The loot isn't so much, it's the joy of the hunt that sparks the Bahamas' take-to-the-air-and-see search

72 He Never Shot Par

Al Capone and his Chicago killers were deadly elsewhere, but on the golf course they were strictly hit-and-miss

A RUNNING COMMENTARY by Tex Maule touches on Floyd Little of the Denver Broncos and other ballcarriers who are putting the feet back into professional football.

THE RIB-CRACKINGEST auto race of all time is Mexico's Baja 1,000, an annual madness that thunders the length of Lower California. Robert F. Jones watches as the cars fly by.

ONE TERRIBLE BEAUTY is back and doing good—good works, that is. The Sugar Ray Youth Foundation, the boxer says, is his destiny, and "I can't tell you the happiness."
