COVER: Well, what do you think? Was it worth the wait? Did we do a good job? The answers to those questions are pretty obvious regardless if it took seven years for us (and the aftermarket) to complete the Classical Resurrection '68 Camaro. One look at the photos shot by Andrew "I was only 16 when you started building this thing" Schear and we're sure you won't be disappointed. Check out an encapsulated journey recounting the car's evolution on page 30. And for more NEW exciting tech, check out this first look at GM's tough, new four-speed automatic trans on page 51.
