

A telephone tip for your home-plans scrapbook

You may not be able to build that new home right away, but when you do, be sure your plans call for concealed telephone wires leading to convenient outlets.

It's easy and inexpensive to install conduit during construction — to carry telephone wires within the walls. This simple provision will avoid exposed wires that mar the appearance of walls and woodwork.

Your Bell Telephone Company will be glad to help you plan for complete, modern, built-in telephone facilities. Just call your Telephone Business Office and ask for "Architects and Builders Service."
