MAGAZINE OF THE FIREARMS TRADE

APRIL 1957 • VOL. II, NO. 4-9

CONTENTS

- Dealers Love That Ruger "Luck" C. Arthur Larson 12
Good guns, an unerring sense of timing, and willingness to gamble on his judgment of market conditions have backed Ruger's swift climb to success in competitive gun-making business.
- Selling Guns That "Can't" Be Sold Carlos Vinson 16
Generous inventory, knowledge of sports, and friendly store atmosphere have tripled this gun goods dealer's business in 18 months in spite of seemingly adverse conditions.
- Dealers Share in Sight Firm's Growth Peter R. Czura 20
Teamwork between owners, employees, and a progressive national dealer organization have marked Williams Gun Sight Company's rise from one-man-in-a-pantry operation to major gun accessory firm.
- The Customer is NOT Always Right Howard W. Burk 24
Diplomacy in handling customer complaints, whether those complaints are justified or not, can build goodwill and repeat business for the dealer in guns and hunting goods.
