ON THE COVER

Although it doesn't look it, Thumler's Ultra-Vibe 18 is a direct descendant of the rotary in the background. The new models are much more efficient than the old, of course. Faster operating, too. It's doubtful if they will be any more durable, though. Thousands of the old red tumblers are still in service and show no signs of wearying. They'll probably be a familiar sight on loading benches around the country for years to come. Photo by Randy Swedlund.
