BULLETIN BOARD

• "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives; I like to see a man live so that his place will be proud of him."

KIND TO COLLECTORS

• "There are many things," wrote Sir Thomas Browne 300 years ago, "to be taken in a soft and flexible sense and not to be called unto the rigid test of Reason." Among these is collecting. Each collector has his or her particular excuse for collecting. Many of their treasures are shown in this issue. Petulant readers may exclaim, "Why in the name of Heaven does So-and-So collect those queer things!" That's the moment to take Soand-So's weakness "in a soft and flexible manner." Don't call it "unto the rigid test of Reason."

★ WAVE A BOND ★

People will be doing a lot of flag-waving on the 4th of July. Now if everyone who waves a flag would also wave a bond, what a display that would make! So long as we cherish our liberties we must be willing to help pay for their defense. Buy another bond today.

AMERICAN PLAN

• There's no getting away from it—what we have been makes us what we are. And that's true of architecture. Glance at the pages in this issue showing the evolution of the American plan from the log cabin up and you'll understand how much the modern architect inherited from the past. House plans are fascinating. To anyone about to build they are essential. Get into the habit of studying them. They are brilliant demonstrations of the slow evolution of our social history.

LITTLE AMELIA

• Collectors of old cook books —and there are many more of them than you'd suspect-all yearn to own the first cook book of American authorship. Its writer was Amelia Simmons, "An American Orphan." It first appeared in 1796 under the title "American Cookery: or the art of dressing viands, fish, poultry, game and vegetables, and the best modes of making puffpastes, pies, tarts and cakes . . . adapted to this country and all grades of life." We like little Orphan Amelia's complete democracy in the kitchen.

COVER. Favorite collector's plums from the Victorian era are mechanical banks like these. The drop of a coin sets in motion rolling eyes, dog jumping through hoop—imagination in cast iron was unrestrained. From Seamen's Bank for Savings. Collector's plums from 1944—War Bonds.
