

1994 December

VOLUME 46, NUMBER 4

"Exotic-car madness" is the theme for this month's issue. To begin with, there is "The Ultimate Exotic-Car Saga," photographer Jeff Zwart's account of his three-week dash around the world shooting 13 extraordinary cars for R&T's Exotic Car Calendar. Then we go to the U.K. for an exclusive drive of the awesome Aston Martin DB7. If you're still not satisfied, check out the Road Tests of the devilishly fast all-wheel-drive Lamborghini Diablo VT and the incomparable Ferrari 456 GT.

ROAD TESTS

- 108 Ferrari 456 GT—a front-engine, rear-drive V-12 2+2 with forza and finesse: sounds like your traditional garden-of-Eden-variety Ferrari
- 116 1995 Subaru Legacy L Wagon—a bit like a Japanese Saab, the Legacy L Wagon is an endearing combination of practicality and quirkiness
- 124 1994 Lamborghini Diablo VT—Lamborghini puts the driven wheels exactly where God intended them to be for supercars: one at each corner

FIRST DRIVES

- 75 Toyota Avalon—with more room than a church parking lot on a Monday morning, it seats six and preys on sedans in the heart of the U.S.A.
- 76 1995 Mazda Protegé—the Protegé is no longer a protégé, but a leader in its class, boasting more room, more refinement and a high fun factor
- 81 Pontiac Sunfire GT—GM's replacement for the Sunbird goes steppin' out in style, dressed to kill and smoothing out the Quad 4 vibrations
- 84 1995 Honda Accord V-6 Sedan—Honda revives a legend—a Legend engine, actually—and the noble Accord now sits at the V-6 Round Table
- 88 1995 Porsche 911 Carrera 4—with its all-new Allrad (all-wheel-drive) system, this Porsche is the most sure-footed Stuttgarter of them all
- 170 Not Quite Cars: 1995 Ford Explorer—Ford eighty-sixes the I-beams and adds rack-and-pinion steering and dual airbags to its ace SUV

FEATURES

- 93 Around the World in 24 Days—Jeff Zwart's 1995 World Tour—eat your heart out, Madonna—shooting 13 great calendar cars
- 132 Aston Martin DB7—a powerful answer to the hypothetical question: What would've happened if William Lyons and David Brown had joined forces?
- 143 An Enthusiast's English Summer—the Innes Ireland Memorial Rally, the Goodwood Festival of Speed and 1800 miles in a Morgan Plus 4
- 146 Long-Term Introduction: Nissan Maxima SE—it's not a 4-door sports car? We're taking a year to explore our suspicions to the contrary.
- 164 Might Made Right—an F-body with a mind to match: The DRM/400<sup>16</sup> Camaro uses good sense and high tech to build a 430-bhp fury
- 196 Long-Term Tests: Toyota Supra & Saab 900SE—from the notebooks come more superlatives for our Supra and favor for our V-6 Swede

COMPETITION

- 150 The Miracle of Matra—a monster running amok in Tokyo? No, but Matra was on the offensive as a Grand Prix contender during the late Sixties.

TECHNICAL

- 158 Technology Update: Fuel Cells—what happens when a beautiful hydrogen proton encourages a handsome electron? Electricity.

COLUMNS

- 29 Miscellaneous Ramblings—Editor-in-Chief Thos L. Bryant tosses a fresh Yule log on the holiday fire and looks back over the car year gone by
- 40 Side Glances—the pool of Duckhams shone like green blood under the streetlight. Yeah, that's my MG, thought Ace Mechanic, car detective
- 178 About the Sport—500-bhp 911s, carbon-fiber Vettes, supercharged Camaros and a BMW sedan vie for the World Challenge crown
- 184 Inside Formula 1—while Benetton knits a couple of see-through wool pullovers for the FIA's eyes, Schumacher sits out the dance in Italy
- 190 Inside Indy Car—on the prowl, Mansell tries to get back together with his old flame, Formula 1, while Al Unser Jr. woos and wins the championship
