

When so much depends on things so little . . .

Cruisers and carriers standing off shore . . . bomber and fighter planes snarling overhead . . . barges disgorging troops and guns and rumbling tanks . . . that's invasion, today!

Yet important in the control of this huge mechanized invasion force are thousands of little electric motors—some that weigh but a few ounces. Motors that swing gun turrets and operate range finders . . . that keep radio tubes cool . . . that tell pilots if ailerons and wing flaps and stabilizers are working—and whether bombs are away or landing gear down.

Long a leader in building small motors, Delco Appliance is proud of the part its precision-built products are playing in this highly motorized war. The sum of perfection in little things is a tremendously big thing, as the Axis is discovering.

There's a Great Day Coming!

The little things that have always helped Delco Appliance home and farm equipment contribute so much to better living will contribute still more when the "great day" of peace comes. Until then, "Victory Is Our Business".
