|-------------------|----|---|
| T George Harris | 4 | Personal: Warped Body, Warped Mind: Why I'm an Ape Who Must Talk to Superior Readers |
| Michael H. Chase | 14 | The Psychosurgery Controversy A neurophysiologist examines Brain Control , a new book that explores the hopes of psychosurgery partisans and the fears of those who see big brother behind the electrodes. |
| Patrice Horn | 19 | News Line Teaching the retarded how to handle a job interview; the positive self-image of the Mexican-American migrant worker; and other items. |
| Vernon H. Mark | 28 | Stimulus/Response: A Psychosurgeon's Case for Psychosurgery The campaign against psychosurgery is part of a widespread movement against all psychiatry, claims a neurosurgeon at the center of the storm. He explains how the operation can bring hope to patients with well-defined pathological disorders of the brain. |
| William A. Gamson | 35 | Violence and Political Power: The Meek Don't Make It When a sociologist examined the record of groups that agitated for social change, he found that those groups who succeeded were large, well organized, and ready to fight back when the going got tough. |
| Meda Chesney-Lind | 43 | Juvenile Delinquency: The Sexualization of Female Crime The sexual double standard infests the juvenile justice system. Many courts routinely test girls suspected of theft for VD and often institutionalize young females to protect them against lives of sin. |
| Manfred Clynes | 51 | The Biological Basis for Sharing Emotion: The Pure Pulse of Musical Genius Music is a language of emotion, and the great composers left distinctive personal signatures in their works. Through sentics, the science that explores the genetically programmed expression of emotions, we can read these signatures with precision. |
| Sam Keen | 56 | Transpersonal Psychology: The Cosmic Vs. the Rational Psychology now has a fourth force that is flirting with theology. If these offspring of humanistic psychology prevail, humanity will be off on a quest for glory. |
| Elizabeth Hall | 60 | Nobody Lives in the Real World: People Plan Their Lives in Terms of Imaginary Systems , a conversation with Edmund Leach. An English social anthropologist talks about the dilemma of the nuclear family, myth, primitive thought, and how old men tyrannize society. |
| Elizabeth Hall | 65 | Scandal Among the Intellectuals , a sketch of Edmund Leach. |
| Lewis Thomas | 72 | To the Computers of Destruction: Do Nothing 'Til You Hear From Me We can postpone Armageddon for at least 10 years if we can only persuade the people in charge to unplug their computers until we know all there is about a single tiny one-celled animal. |
| Andrew Weil | 74 | Parapsychology: Andrew Weil's Search for the True Geller—Part II: The Let-down True-believer Weil meets a magician and discovers that sleight-of-hand bends keys as well as psychokinesis does. ESP turns out to be in the eye of the beholder. |
