Easter's Happiness

The September day that you started to school was a happy day for you because it held a promise of happy times as you learned the work of your new grade. We can call it a day of promise. The last day of school you will be happy because you will have learned the work of the grade and will receive your promotion. So we can call it a day of fulfillment.

The whole world has wonderful days of promise and of fulfillment. Two of these days are Christmas and Easter. We celebrate Christmas because on that day Jesus came to earth. For all the world that was a day of glorious promise. The people that Jesus came to live among did not know God as a loving Father. To most of them He was a ruler who ruled the world with a hard hand. He dealt justice without mercy. The old prophets had taught the people that God demanded "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." That meant that every bit of suffering that one person caused another person must be paid for by an equal amount of suffering. Under God's law of love as Jesus taught it, when we cause another to suffer, either by accident or intentionally, we can be forgiven and then we need not suffer. But such forgiveness comes only when we realize that we have been wrong and are ready to acknowledge it and do what we can to right it. You will understand this when you remember the times you have caused Mother or Father or perhaps a playmate to suffer because you have been naughty and then have gone to them and asked forgiveness. It was granted because they loved you.

Jesus' birthday was truly a glorious day of promise of happiness to all the world, because He brought us the understanding of God as our Father and of God's law of love.

Easter is a glorious day of fulfillment, for on the first glad Easter Day Jesus proved to every person in all the world that joy triumphs over sadness, love triumphs over hatred, life triumphs over death. Over and over He tried to teach His disciples and all those who heard Him the law of love. He believed in love. He told them to love little children, to love one another, to love even their enemies! Jesus' heart was so full of love that He could forgive even those who crucified Him! He could love because He knew that God is a God of life and love, and that God is His Father and ours. Even death could not conquer Him. His day of fulfillment came on Easter, for on that glad day He arose from the tomb and proved that life and love are victorious.

Easter Sunday

By Georgia Tucker Smith

Eastertime's a happy time,
With colored Easter eggs,
And bright-eyed little bunnies
With long ears and hoppy legs.

And chicks like fluffy little balls
That make a squeaky noise,
And lovely wrapped surprises too
Of candy, books, and toys.

But to go to church on Easter
Is the nicest part of all;
Church bells ringing, joyful singing,
Candles, white and tall,

People smiling, shaking hands
And walking down the aisle—
You can almost feel the love
That's in each friendly smile.

And when in silence heads are bowed
To talk to God in prayer,
Although I cannot see Him
I can feel His presence there.
